Session 2: February 16, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Session 3: February 18, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Session 4: February 25, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

Auctions are a critically important part of the art market. Sales are public and reflect the strength or weakness of a particular area and provide for the appraiser a record of sales and unsold items that are essential for appraisals. The course covers history of auctions, format, and legal and technical issues that are essential to understand for all auction participants. We examine terminology, guarantees, lot headings and cataloging. Auction laws differ by state and municipality and the conditions of sale and consignor contracts differ between auction companies. We examine all aspects of the bidding and consignment processes and end with a mock-auction. The participant will leave with a solid understanding of all aspects of the art auction business.
Legal and Ethical Issues of Appraising
Instructor: Michael McCullough
Session 1: March 2, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Session 2: March 4, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Session 3: March 9, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

Legal aspects of appraising have become crucial to the profession. At its highest levels, appraising requires in-depth knowledge of key issues, including clear title so often compromised by stolen and looted art, the legal framework protecting cultural property, IRS legal considerations, determination of authenticity, appropriate marketplace (retail market and tax shelters), the factoring in of volume discounts, the interaction of case law and the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice, and legal aspects of damage/loss appraisals. Analyze prominent cases that illustrate compelling legal considerations connected with valuing modern and contemporary art, including that of Warhol, O’Keeffe, Rothko, and Calder.

Understanding Picture Frames: An In-Depth Look at the Art of the Edge
Instructor: Suzanne Smeaton, AAA
Session 1: March 11, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.
Session 2: March 16, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

A one-day frame intensive offering an in-depth look at period frames: At their stylistic evolution, fabrication techniques, including gilding methods, and the different styles of frames most often found on specific styles of artwork. Questions on how to assess a frame are covered: Is it period or modern? Has it been altered? Is the surface original? Is the frame original to the artwork and does it matter? Following a question and answer period in the early afternoon we will meet at the Metropolitan Museum of Art to look at original frames as well as reproductions and high-quality replicas to better identify the frames you are likely to encounter as an appraiser.

Session 2: March 30, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

This class will explore the primary criteria that influence the value of documentary and fine art photography. Upon completion you should have a better understanding of the overall medium, the differences between primary and secondary markets, a general understanding of major movements within the medium, and be able to provide basic justifications for the value of individual photographs.

Conservation of the Fine Arts
Instructor: Jennifer Mass, Ph.D.
Session 1: April 1, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m. (to be confirmed)
Session 2: April 6, 6:00 – 8:00 p.m. (to be confirmed)

This course will explore the fundamental structures and properties of the materials used to construct the decorative environment. The objects that make up this environment are engineered to have optical properties and textures that produce a range of effects including rich colors, gloss, iridescence, and opacity. As these objects age, their surfaces are vulnerable to interaction with agents of deterioration from the environment such as water, oxygen, carbon dioxide, sulfur dioxide pollution and even the salts from our hands. To understand the original function of a decorative environment, it is necessary then to understand how its component objects have changed over time. This can only be accomplished through an understanding of the materials from which the objects were originally constructed. This course will be an overview of the decorative environment from faux furniture finishes to prized objects of vertu to fine and decorative painting. From the first engineered ceramic, faience, created in predynastic Egypt to the delicately lustered surfaces of Italian Renaissance majolica, there is fascinating chemistry that goes into the creation of all decorative art objects. A selection of decorative alloys used from antiquity to the present day will be surveyed, including bronzes, pak tong, German silver, tumbaga, and shakudo. Art glasses and artists’ pigments will be examined through the lens of their materials chemistry and instability.
